Your Project, Our Role...

The Preservation Collaborative documented the 1899 Franklin School in Medford. This building served the City for over one hundred years before being sold and developed into residential housing.

The Preservation Collaborative offers drawing (HABS) and photographic documentation to clients across New England. Buildings of all sizes are eligible.

We produced floor plans, elevations a 3d model and photographic record of the existing building for future preservation work.

The Historic American Building Survey established a baseline level of documentation for historic buildings. HABS is managed under the U.S. National Park Service.
