

Medford Historic Inventory

Medford, Massachusetts

Project Highlights

Buildings are located in Medford's most historic neighborhoods.

Inventory form B are the first step in documenting historic structures.

Our firm documented several buildings and made National Register nominations where appropriate.

One of the masonry buildings inventoried, right. The adjacent property, below, was also inventoried.

Your Project, Our Role...

The Preservation Collaborative documented several significant properties in Medford, MA

Pictured above were two outstanding buildings found to have a remarkable entwined story, having been built in the 19th century by a Swedish immigrant with one arm. Most properties were recommend for the National Register of Historic Places.

The Preservation Collaborative provides thorough documentation of historic structures through extensive research and a wealth of experience.

Our final products are compiled on inventory forms, utilized by regional planning agencies to acknowledge the historic values of existing structures.

We work with all types of clients from homeowners to large museums.
