

J. H. Smith Farmhouse

Newfield, Maine

Project Highlights

Documentation for a private client of an 1840 Greek Revival residence.

Existing conditions document building.

Building is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

J. H. Smith Farmhouse as seen from the street. Floor plan and elevation samples are provided below.

Your Project, Our Role...

Our firm documented the 1840 J. H. Smith connected farmhouse for clients in Newfield. This building is a part of a large grouping of connected farm buildings. The building boasts period details and even a 'modern' electric kitchen from General Electric circa 1940.

Documentation included viewing existing conditions, photographing the structure, and drawing plans and elevations.

The Preservation Collaborative specializes in the documentation of historic properties. With a decade or more of experience in this area, we are knowledgeable about getting the task at hand complete.

We pride ourselves in working with residential customers. Knowing home is your most valuable asset, we strive to help you make the most of your cherished property. Contact us today!

